HORRORS OF THE FRENCH CIVIL WAR

FRIGHTFUL SCENES AT THE OVERTHROW OF THE COMMUNE

DESPERATE ACTS OF THE FEMALE INCENDIARIES

[Paris (May 25) Correspondence of the London Times]

I took a walk down the Rue Rivoli toward the Hotel de Ville to judge of the amount of damage done, and at the corner of the Rue Castiglione became aware of the approach of a great crowd of people yelling and shaking their fists The cortege was headed by a company of mounted gendarmes, behind whom came two artillerymen dragging between them a soiled bundle of rags that tottered and struggled, and fell down under the blows that were showered upon it by all who were within reach It was a woman, who had been caught in the act of spreading petroleum Her face was bleeding, and her hair streaming down her back, from which her clothing had been torn On they dragged her, followed by a hooting mob, till they reached the corner of the Louvre and there they propped her up against a wall, already half dead from the treatment she had received The crowd ranged itself in a circle and I have never seen a picture more perfect and complete in its details than was presented by that scene The gasping shrinking figure in the center, surrounded by a crowd who could scarce be kept from tearing her in pieces, who waved their arms, crying "Drown her! drown her" on one side a barricade, still strewn with broken guns and hats—a dead National Guard lying in the fosse—behind a group of mounted gendarmes, and then a perspective of ruined streets and blackened houses, culminating in the extreme distance in the still burning Hotel de Ville Presently two revolvers were discharged and the bundle of rags fell forward in a pool of blood The popular thirst for vengeance was satisfied and so the crowd dispersed in search of further excitement elsewhere

ASSAULTING A BARRICADE.

[Paris May (25) Correspondence of the Daily News]

I questioned if it would have been possible to have selected a position better situated than mine was to take in the whole of the features of a battle of the streets The theater opposite me backs the Rue Vaugirard, and the Garden of the Luxembourg fronts the height, circular Place de l Odeon, and looks upon three streets, viz Rue Racine, the Rue Casimir Delavinge and the Rue de l Odeon The terrace, the basement, and the twelve pillars which support the facade are in a direct line with the first street Thus was it not only a natural barricade, but it was also in a direct line of fire from the barricade at the bottom of the Rue Racine some two and fifty yards distant A battle from barricade to barricade is not very interesting but this scene, which I witnessed from its begining to its end was of the most exciting character and I was only ten yards from it all A barricade battle is very uniform A man advances to the front, takes aim, fires, and retreats until his turn comes again and so on ad infinitum But here every pillar every corner of the arcade running round the theater, every projecting piece of masonry was a coign of vantage, which was instantly occupied by the troops and afforded scope for individual manœuvers At 1 15 the troops received orders to commence firing, and they began with a will For nearly three hours they kept up an incessant fusilade which was vigorously replied to by the insurgents, who showered shot shell bullets, and mitraille by thousands upon the theater The insurgents aimed well the pillars were splintered into a thousand pieces the shells though carefully aimed at them for the purpose of cutting them in two and bringing down the roof were not of sufficient caliber—one pillar however was almost entirely demolished All this time the troops chiefly young men stuck to their position with great bravery, each handled his chassepot in a masterly manner and delivered his fire with regularity and coolness But the fighting at this rate might have lasted a week, the officer in command therefore gave the order to glide into the houses of the Rue Racine and so advance toward the barricade This order was bravely executed, and then, in lieu of firing bullets, which either struck the paving stones of the barricades or the houses in the rear the troops fired down upon the defenders of the barricade After an hour's skirmishing, the position was abandoned by the insurgents, and with a rush and a cheer the troops took possession, and turned their arms against the barricade at the junction of the Rue Soufflot and the Boulevard St Michel During the whole of this time I did not notice more than half a dozen men fall Two were killed on the spot the others wounded

HOW THE PALACES AND PRIVATE RESIDENCES WERE FIRED

[Paris (May 26) Correspondence of the London News]

Paris shall not exist if Paris does not belong to the Commune Such was their hellish resolve and they proceeded to carry out their threat of destroying the capital which they could not retain They set to work in three distinct ways In the palaces and public offices which they commanded they disposed at regular intervals, sometimes bottles, sometimes pots of petroleum When the vessels of petroleum were arranged at proper distances, one of them would be overturned and ignited, the flames would rapidly spread, and the whole building would soon be past salvation (It was in this way that the Tuilleries, the Palais Royal, the Hotel de Ville, the Palace of the Legion of Honor and other celebrated public edifices were set in flames This arrangement was all made in the Ministry of Marine, but the wretches engaged in the work of destruction had to fly before they could set fire to the pots of petroleum which they had planted in the most likely corridors There was a second method adopted for the destruction of private houses When it became necessary to retire from a particular barricade the Guards tore to pieces the beds which formed part of the barricades took the tow out of the beds, dipped it in petroleum and loaded their guns with it Then they fired the tow into the windows of the houses! It was in this way the block of houses in the Rue Royale, facing the Madeleine, was set on fire

Still a third method men and women were going about Paris with bottles of petroleum in their pockets, or hid about their dresses They threw these bottles down into the ground floors of every dwelling they could get at If there was no room for the bottle to get through the neck of the bottle could get into certain air holes which belong to the construction of French houses, the liquid would be poured in and a lighted matched would be sent in after it. In this way very many private houses were set in flames, and many hundreds of women were taken in the act all day—some of them shot upon the spot All day too, the inhabitants, apprised of what was going on were engaged in stopping up all the skylights, gratings and air holes which connected their ground floors with the pavements Wherever you turned—in every street—you see the inhabitants busy, plastering bricking or shutting up with planks the two feet of their houses next to the pavement Not only were women taken but the firemen also in great numbers were arrested The fact is that many adherents of the Commune entered the ranks of the firemen, partly to disguise themselves, and partly to spread the fire instead of extinguishing it

THE EXTENT OF THE SLAUGHTER

[Paris (May 26) Correspondence of the London Times]

The executions of the insurgents are wholesale It is estimated that upward of 2,000 persons have been shot already on the left bank of the Seine alone evidently a small proportion of the total number Wherever women and children are to be observed leaning over the parapet of the Seine intently regarding some object below, one may be sure that the attraction is a group of hideously mutilated corpses of men who have been brought down to the river side, and then with their backs to the wall have met their doom On the sloping roads leading down from the Quay to the river may also be seen inequalities where the freshly turned earth indicates burial places Not far from these bodies were lying several dead horses, from which the people were cutting steaks

The inside of the Hotel de Ville presents a curious scene the solid masses of stone and lime of which the rubbish is composed having fallen in the form of a crater, which fills up the whole central place Under this mound are said to be buried from 200 to 300 insurgents who were unable to escape at the last moment, and thus fell the victims of the conflagration they had themselves originated The mutilation of the ornamental work of this magnificent specimen of architecture is simply hideous, there is scarcely a square inch of the facade untouched by shot or shell and the huge stone columns inside, splintered and defaced support a mere shell

YOUNG WOMEN BURIED IN THE RUINS

[Paris (May 27) Correspondence of the London Times]

There is a yellow, ghastly look in the atmosphere so charged with the smoke of burning houses and public buildings that the sun shines feebly through it The Tuileries is a mere shell The smoke from the Ministry of Finance and the magnificent public buildings at the corner of the Rue Royal and the Rue de Rivoli is still rising from their ruins and in the celebrated bonnet-maker's Madame Drouart No 3 Rue de Rivoli, well known to many of your lady readers, a number of young women employed there took refuge in the cellars and are now stifled beneath a pile of rubbish twenty or thirty feet high The Rue Royale, which I could only see a portion of, is like a Nineveh mound of rubbish and the fire is still extending Turning back by the Boulevard Haussmann, I reached the Grand Opera a mass of barricades and too full of soldiers to be a pleasant resort, especially as petroleum shells were falling on the boulevard des Italiens All those palaces which made Paris the wonder and admiration of modern times are heaps of smoldering ruins —her finest boulevards shattered, her gardens laid waste, her gutters running with blood and an awful settling down heavily over her dying agonies as she completes in compliance with the inexorable logic of facts which has formed her only religion, her own suicide

A WOMAN WHO HAD KILLED FOUR MEN IS CAPTURED AND SHOT

[Paris (May 26) Correspondence of the London Times]

You have heard doubtless, of the vivandieres of the National battalions, who have marched brightly and bravely to the combat with the corps or with the men who claimed their wild and more than half unwomanly devotion One woman of this class straight, tall, splendidly set with vigor in her face and beauty in every limb—she could not have been more than twenty five, and she was a women perfectly made—I saw suffer a frightful fate Captured I know not how, she had killed with a revolver before her hand could be stayed a Versaillist officer and three of his men She looked out and out a fury, her handsome face was black with powder her lips especially made livid by hasty biting of cartridges her hair hung in disheveled tangles about her handsome but ferocious face, and her eyes, gleaming with an overstrained courage that mounted even to madness, blazed defiance on the red breeched crowd who had her at their mercy I will not linger on the scene Her hands were tied, and, with her back against a wall, she died—pierced through and through with shots from the rifles of M Thiers's troops I could not blame them—but I could not help being deeply sorry for her

THE CAPTURED MEN AND WOMEN AT SATORY

[Paris Correspondence of the London Standard]

The Party of Harmony

A confusion of tongues not unlike that which arose among the builders of Babel is resulting from the new political movement attempted in the Democratic party. The only effect of the "new departure" yet visible is the complete division of sentiment and opinion among the Democrats, that has been caused by it. The progress of the new movement seems likely to be stopped by a confusion of tongues, as the erection of the great temple on the plains of Shinar was. In our own State, if we may take the Democratic press for it, the party is completely divided upon the new movement. The party journals in Portland and Salem accept the "new departure," but all the rest spurn it. According to the Cincinnati Enquirer, a high Democratic authority, the new platform was "opposed by a large minority of the Convention, and so hostile were many that they proposed calling another Convention to denounce the surrender to the Republican party." The Columbus Statesman, another Democratic oracle, says that the managers "administered the consolation usually given Democratic Conventions by some great men when they have narrowly escaped breaking up in a row," that when they quarrel most they fight best. Leslie, the Democratic candidate for Governor in Kentucky, declares "he don't care what Vallandigham or Hendricks say about the amendments," he demands their repeal. Carlisle, running on the same ticket with Leslie, says "the amendments are not dead issues and politicians can't kill them with resolutions." We all know what Jeff Davis [illegible] and a Southern correspondent of the [Chatt]anooga Times (Democratic) declares [that] Jefferson Davis still has the love and admiration, as well as the confidence of [ev]ery true Southerner." And on repudiation in the Ohio platform, the Detroit Free Press (Democratic) says "It has in true Ohio fashion, and for mere local effect, unnecessarily injected a greenback plank, which is about as dead an issue at this time as we can well conceive of. But with the greenback [move]ment within its borders, this little concession to its past mistakes will not seriously [emb]arrass the contest." The Philadelphia [D]aily Mercury, a Democratic paper of larger [circ]ulation and influence than any other in [th]at city, says that the new movement is superfluous and mendacious," and that it will "not only disgust and drive off many old Democrats, but prevent thousands of others from voting with a party that has forged a [plan] to win an election." The truth is, as the New York Times well observes, that the Democratic party does not agree substantially on any one point, except its desire for success, and on that point it is not likely to carry the country.

The "New Departure" Repudiated.

The [L]ouisville Ledger (Dem) not only re[pudi]ates the departure of its party in Ohio [and Penn]sylvania, but denounces it in the [following] [d]ecided words:

[illegible] and sharing the public plunder [illegible] principle involved in the politics of [the] day. [T]here [is] no necessity of keeping up two [political org]anizations. Democrats who think that getting into office is the one thing needful, can as readily accomplish their purpose by going over body and soul to the Radicals as they can by [m]aking an organization different from theirs [only i]n name. There is as much hope of success [i]n a scramble for the spoils in the Radical organ[iz]ation as there is out of it. If the Democrats are [to] erect a platform upon which a Radical candi[da]te for the Presidency can consistently stand, it [would be] better for them to go over to the Radi[cals at once] and insist upon a pro rata division of [the spoil]s. This plan is more promising of suc[cess th]an the other.

[The] Memphis Appeal, after the terse announcement that "Vallandigham's new departure [f]rom Democracy is a failure," con[tin]ues [its] renunciation of the movement in [l]anguage that is equally pronounced.

Elsewhere in this paper the reader will find the views of Lewis D Campbell and Mayor Maginnis, two prominent politicians of Ohio. It will be seen from the sentiments expressed by these gentlemen that the "new departure" is considered nothing but an unconditional surrender to Radicalism. The Democrats who favor the new movement seem to forget that while they are taking in [at the bung]hole they are losing at the spigot. We have never doubted but what the Democratic party [could] double up a platform that would catch many Republicans, but the platform that surrenders all the distinctive features of the party for the purpose of winning recruits would incur the [cont]empt of the men who are Democrats [on princi]ple and who had rather go down in [de]fense [of princi]ple [th]an triumph by a base abandonment [of] [p]rinciple. [illegible] spoils are all the [illegible] those who propose the new de[parture] [T]he best policy would be to surrender and [co]nsolidate with Grant and Butler at once, [for] we have no doubt by disbanding the Democratic organization, and selling the party out, a large amount of offices and plunder could thus be secured.

[The Dem]ocracy of Pennsylvania, in their [St]ate convention, had a furious row over the [question], [and] the new departure men succeeded [by o]nly fourteen majority, and in Ohio [th]e Cincinnati Enquirer, the Commoner and other leading Democratic papers are against it.

It is hoped that the officers of the State Agricultural Society will be able to take such action in regard to the proposed invitation to Horace Greeley, to visit Oregon this fall, as will bring about that highly desirable result. Any reasonable appropriation of money that might be necessary to pay his expenses, etc, would be returned fourfold to the Society by securing Mr Greeley's attendance at the [Fair]. The inducement of seeing him and of hearing him deliver the annual address would bring out two-thirds of the people of Oregon on that occasion.

The New York Independent, a paper which was dissatisfied with Gen Grant when the Sumner affair was before the country, and which said it would be glad to support Mr Sumner or Mr Colfax as Gen. Grant's successor, has taken a second thought, and now warmly commends Gen Grant as "the people's candidate" for a second term.

The Sacramento Union says that the rapid purchase and large shipments of wool from California are due to a conviction that the prevailing epidemic at Buenos Ayres will be fatal to the shipment of wool from the Rio de la Plata this year. The amount counted on from that quarter was 125,000,000 pounds.

The Missouri Democrat asks "Could anybody have believed, half a dozen years ago, that the time would ever come in this country when leading Democratic papers would insist that Mr. Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederate States, was a man of no political consequence."

The second agricultural fair ever held in Rome has just taken place with gratifying success. Modern farm tools were seen there for the first time, and the surprise and wonder of the campaign farmers was something painful as well as interesting. Wood's reaper and mower made its formidable appearance. Some modern English farm tools had been presented to the Pope, but were carefully stowed away as objects of curiosity in one of the museums, instead of their being used.

The Battle of Dorking.

Several pieces of political satire of marked excellence have appeared in Europe during the past year. The piece entitled "Dame Europa's School" has had an immense run and new editions are being thrown off. In the May number of Blackwood another powerful political satire appeared, in the form of an imaginative description of the conquest of England by Germany in 1875, related in 1925 by an eye-witness, to his grand-children. It is said of the piece, that it embraces "a wonderfully life-like and natural portrayal of the arrival of the German Armada, the destruction of the British fleet and the decisive battle of Dorking, twenty-one miles south of London, by which the capture of that city and the downfall and humiliation of the British empire were brought about. The author exposes, or seeks to expose the utter inefficiency of the volunteer system, and the slender chances of success which a brave but undisciplined rabble would have in a conflict with the trained regular troops of an invader. It reads like the recital of an actual occurrence, and is said to have created a most profound impression among all classes of people in England." The story is introduced thus:

You ask me to tell you, my grandchildren, something about my own share in the great events that happened fifty years ago. 'Tis sad work turning back to that bitter page in our history, but you may perhaps take profit in your new homes from the lesson it teaches. For us in England it came too late. And yet we had plenty of warnings if we had only made use of them. The danger did not come on us unawares. It burst on us suddenly, 'tis true, but its coming was foreshadowed plainly enough to open our eyes if we had not been wilfully blind. We English have only ourselves to blame for the humiliation which has been brought on the land. Venerable old age! Dishonored old age, I say, when it follows a manhood dishonored as ours has been. I declare, even now, though fifty years have passed, I can hardly look a young man in the face when I think I am one of those in whose youth happened this degradation of old England—one of those who betrayed the trust handed down to us unstained by our forefathers.

The writer proceeds to tell how the crash came about:

First, the rising in India drew away a part of our small army, then came the difficulty with America, which had been threatening for years and we sent off ten thousand men to defend Canada—a handful which did not go far to strengthen the real defences of that country but formed an irresistible temptation to the American to try and take them prisoners, especially as the contingent included three battalions of the Guards. Thus the regular army at home was even smaller than usual, and nearly half of it was in Ireland to check the talked of Fenian invasion fitting out in the West. Worse still—though I do not know it would really have mattered as things turned out—the fleet was scattered abroad, some ships to guard the West Indies, others to check privateering in the China seas, and a large party to try and protect our colonies on the northern Pacific shore of America, where with incredible folly, we continued to retain possessions which we could not possibly defend. America was not the great Power forty years ago that it is now; but for us to try and hold territory on her shores which could only be reached by sailing round the Horn was as absurd as if she had attempted to take the Isle of Man before the independence of Ireland. We see this plainly enough now, but we were all blind then. I had just come up to town by train as usual and was walking to my office, when the newsboys began to cry—"New edition—enemy's fleet in sight." You may imagine the scene in London.

We then have an account how the British fleet was annihilated by a new invention in use by the Germans, and England was powerless thereafter to resist. Here is what followed:

Happy those whose bones whitened the fields of Surrey, they at least were spared the disgrace we lived to endure. Even you, who have never known what it is to live otherwise than on sufferance, even your cheeks burn when we talk of these days, think, then, what those endured who like your grandfather, had been citizens of the proudest nation on earth, which had never known disgrace or defeat, and whose boast used to be that they bore a flag on which the sun never set. We had heard of generosity in war, we found none, the war was made by us, it was said, and we must take the consequences. London and our only arsenal captured, we were at the mercy of our captors, and right heavily did they tread on our necks. Need I tell you the rest?—of the ransom we had to pay, and the taxes raised to cover it, which keep us paupers to this day?—the brutal frankness that announced we must give place to a new naval power and be made harmless for revenge?—the victorious troops living at free quarters, the yoke they put on us made the more galling that their requisitions had the semblance of method and legality? Better have been robbed at first hand by the soldiery themselves than through our own magistrates made the instruments for extortion. How we lived through the degradation we daily and hourly underwent I hardly even now understand. And what was there left to us to live for? Stripped of our colonies, Canada and the West Indies gone to America, Australia forced to separate, India lost forever, after the English there had all been destroyed, vainly trying to hold the country when cut off from aid by their countrymen, Gibraltar and Malta ceded to the new naval power, Ireland independent and in perpetual anarchy and revolution. When I look at my country as it is now—its trade gone, its factories silent, its harbors empty, a prey to pauperism and decay—when I see all this and think what Great Britain was in my youth, I ask myself whether I have really a heart or any sense of patriotism that I should have witnessed such degradation and still care to live?

The object of this paper, says the New York Herald, is obvious to every reader. It is to rouse England to a sense of her danger. Of course it is written from the point of view of high toryism. The paper has been printed in a pamphlet form, and is being extensively sold. The general opinion is that it will do more to arm England than Mr Cardwell with his sixteen millions of pounds sterling.

Comparative Product of Cereals

[From the Pacific Rural Press]

The United States produces more grain, in proportion to population, than any other country in the world. The Danubian Principality—Roumania, is second in the ratio of production, and European Russia third. According to the census of 1870, the United States, with a population of 31,143,186, produced 1,231,428,452 bushels of grain of all kinds. This was at the rate of 38.2 bushels to each person.

Roumania, with a population of 3,864,848, produced 134,439,963 bushels, or just 25 bushels to each person.

European Russia, with a population of 61,-325,923, produced 1,358,497,500 bushels or 23.1 bushels to each person while the product of all Europe is 4,583,166,821 bushels, and her population 289,375,284, or just 16 bushels for each person.

By the census of 1850, the United States produced 36.3 bushels for each person then in the country. By the same ratio of increase in production, our census of 1870 will show a product of a little over 40 bushels to the person.

American agriculture runs too much to grain. We are exhausting our soil for the benefit of other countries. We had better export less grain and import less sugar, flax, silk, wine, brandies, etc. We as a nation ought, and can produce nearly everything, as a nation, we want to eat, use or wear. We have the soil, climate, skill, labor, and all the other elements of production. We only need a systematic application of the means in our hands.

Dr Torbett, editor of the Kansas City (Mo) News, who recently destroyed himself with morphine, left a letter to a friend in defense of suicide. He argues with much force and some eloquence the right of a man to take his own life, and declares self slaughter to be no evidence of insanity, but, on the contrary, at least in many cases, of the highest wisdom. His suicide seems to have been long contemplated, and to have been committed only after much calm and serious reflection.

Hot weather has prevailed in the Owyhee country, the mercury standing a few days since at 106° in the shade.

OREGON

The Albany Register is to be enlarged and its form changed to an eight page paper.

The Barlow road over the Cascade mountains is in good condition, and is now traveled considerably.

The valuation of property in Oregon City, according to the city assessment, is a little over $600,000.

The oldest convict in the Penitentiary, a man named Collins, who has been confined for eight years, has been pardoned out. He is sinking with consumption.

In the Philadelphia Press, of June 2d, we observe another of Col Taggart's really valuable articles on Oregon. Col T merits the thanks of all our people for his kind and appreciative letters concerning us and our State.

CURRENT NOTES

England banished the uncle of his nephew to St Helena, and kept him there until he died. England now receives the nephew of his uncle, and shelters and protects him at Chiselhurst. John Bull has made the amende honorable. The charge of "perfidy" is wiped out.

E B Washburne, Minister to France, writes from Paris, "It is a terrible thing to have to remain in a city of two millions of people, where there is no shadow of law, but the law of force and terror. I had rather be in Galena, living in the little house that I bought in 1840, than to be here."

A Kansas farmer, whose hogs all had the cholera, took the carcass of one that had died of the disease and roasted it on a pile of pine fagots. When it was done brown he drove the other infected members of his swinish family to the feast, and the flesh was devoured by them with such good homœopathic results that the whole herd has recovered and is in as good condition as ever.

W H Ehninger of St Louis thus advertises in the papers of that city: "Cats Wanted—Five Hundred Cats wanted, for which I will pay cash from 25 cents to $1 each, according to the quality of the fur." Mr Ehninger is a nephew of the late John Jacob Astor, the pioneer of American fur trade, who in his will bequeathed to his nephew a recipe for dressing the fur of the cat, and rendering it a valuable article of commerce.

A STRATAGEM.—A few evenings since as Justice Evans was leaving his office, he was confronted by two charming young ladies, who requested a private interview. Conducting them back into his office, the bland magistrate inquired in what way he could oblige them. "You are a Justice of the Peace, are you not?" the eldest and by far the prettiest of them inquired. "Yes," he said. "And can marry people—that is, can marry a lady?" "Well yes, if the lady brings a bridegroom along with her. I'm not a marrying man myself," rejoined the trembling magistrate, fearing lest his own liberty was involved in the issue. "Oh, not at all," said the damsel and turning to her companion, continued, "I reckon, Willie, you can strip off these togs." No sooner said than done, the young lady's companion commenced to tear off her dress with a haste that promised speedy nudity. Inexpressibly shocked (for the Judge is a very modest man), he turned to escape from the room, when a second glance he could not restrain revealed to him the fact that the supposed young lady in process of stripping off her female gear was not a girl but a strapping boy, who had used the disguise to get his dulcina in the presence of a magistrate. Of course this explained the situation, and without more ado the Judge proceeded to join them in holy bonds "until death or the divorce courts should them sever." In remuneration for his trouble, the bride gave him a smacking kiss, and went on her way rejoicing. To use the Judge's own expressive phraseology, that kiss was beautiful.—N O Picayune.

A few words about S-T 1860 X, which Mrs Partington says means, "Satan turned loose in 1860 but she don't know what X means." Why, good lady, it is the national emblem—the sign over your door—the innocent Latin of PLANTATION BITTERS. Everybody and everything has a sign or name. This is our sign, which has been read by more men, women and children, and carried a blessing into more families in every part of the habitable globe, than any sign in America. But the name is of little consequence, it is the article which is so universally applicable for that numerous class of complaints which come under the head of "Out of Sorts."

PHILHARMONIC CONCERT.—The Philharmonic Society keeps well its hold upon public estimation, as was again evidenced [illegible] three weeks have elapsed since the first concert [illegible] the year yet this second appea[rance] [illegible] judgment of the musical public [illegible] if not quite, as successful [illegible] was quite well filled [illegible] most of the seats at the extreme [illegible] hall were occupied. The rush for reserved seats yesterday was such that premiums were paid [to] some fortunate holders for their tickets [illegible] the former occasion, the choruses were exceedingly well executed and being new they demonstrated that the Society does not need to rehearse forever in order to perform a piece acceptably. REFORMATION AMONG THE EDITORS.—A reformation has broken out among the editors. The ... of Thursday morning announced a "departure from the "Oregon style," confessing, like the Publican in St. Luke, that he had been a grievous sinner. Thereupon the Herald editor ... muchly, and prognosticated all sorts of ... things in prospect for the newspaper world of Oregon, and promising to be a "good ... boy, too. This sentence in the Herald, ... puzzles us not a little: "In fact, as we have never descended to the depth attained by ... in this respect, we have felt ourselves at ... a strange position, for the reason that our contemporaries were possessed of weapons we would not handle." We can't quite make out whether that is a joke or a "whopper." If a ... uttered with malice aforethought, etc., ... of course, it would become us as a staid and ... promoter of good morals to go into a fit of ... indignation. Under the circumstances we should like to ask our neighbor of the Herald, if he has lately been reading the 11th verse of the xviii chapter of the Gospel according to St. Luke, which the same is as follows: "The Pharisee stood and prayed thus with himself: God, I thank Thee that I am not as other men are, extortioners, unjust, adulterers, or even as this Republican."

SPECIAL CHURCH NOTICES.—Regular services will be held in the old Congregational Church, corner of Jefferson and First streets, on Sabbath, ... morning and evening.

Rev. Dr. Lindsley will, as usual, preach in ... to-morrow, at the Presbyterian Church, and lecture in the evening.

At St. David's Church, East Portland, there will be service to-morrow at 11 o'clock A. M., Rev. Mr. ...berg officiating, and in the evening at ... o'clock, Bishop Morris officiating.

The Rev. John W. Sellwood will hold Divine service in St. Andrew's Chapel, Kalama, on Sunday the 25th, and Bishop Morris on the first Sunday in July.

THE IRISH EXILES.—The committee appointed ... Irish fellow citizens to invite the Irish exiles, ... Bourke and Luby, to visit Oregon, telegraphed the invitation as directed, and received ... to the effect that Mr. Luby was under the ... of returning East soon, and that Mr. ... would reply fully by letter. The letter is ... by the steamer due to-night. When ... the substance of it will, probably, be given to the public.

RECREATION IN THE COUNTRY.—The people in the neighborhood of Ames' Chapel, eight miles ... of this city, have arranged to have a celebration and basket dinner on the 4th of July. The ... exercises will begin at 11 A. M., and will consist of the reading of the Declaration of Independence, ... one or more addresses, dinner, and in the afternoon some Sunday school exercises.

A RAILROAD SPECULATOR.—It seems by a ... communication to the reporter of the ... that Loss, the confidence man, was engaged with another party, in a railroad speculation, ... which they expected to make $2,000. ... in the dark, however, as to the proportions of the enterprise. The foundation will be piles and the ... will be an average of about six feet high. ... is also to be bridged, and bids for performing the work will be received till Monday ... inst.

During the rest of the day it was sunshine and shade ... the evening closing with very uncertain indications for the morrow. This rain is ... welcome, provided it don't hang on too long.

CHARITY MEETINGS.—The Society of St. Vincent de Paul will hold a regular meeting at four o'clock ... on Sunday.

The Society of Mexican Veterans will meet to-... to see what arrangements can be made for ... the Fourth of July.

CASCADES RAILROAD BRIDGE.—Capt. Thompson, of the O. S. N. Co., informs us that the ... bridge at the Cascades, recently damaged by the flood, will be repaired so that trains may ... on Monday next. Freight will be received for transportation up the Columbia on that day.

PORTLAND FINANCES.—The report of the ... of East Portland for the quarter ending May 31st, shows that the total sum of receipts ... $1,441 72; total disbursements, $1,192 14; ... on hand, $1,250 08. Pretty fair for a ... town.

AMUSEMENTS.

PHILHARMONIC CONCERT.—The Philharmonic Society keeps well its hold upon public estimation, as was again evidenced last evening. Only ... weeks have elapsed since the first concert of the year, yet this second appeal to the tastes and ... of the musical public has proved almost, ... quite, as successful as the first. The house was quite well filled—in front it was packed, and ... of the seats at the extreme back end of the ... occupied. Valuable Hints.

A regular habit of body is absolutely essential to physical health and clearness of Intellect. Nor is this all. Beauty of person cannot co-exist with an unnatural condition of the bowels. A free passage of the refuse matter of the system through those natural waste pipes, is as necessary to the purity of the body as the free passage of the offal of a city through its sewers is necessary to the health of its inhabitants.

Indigestion is the primary cause of most of the diseases of the discharging organs, and one of its most common results is constipation. This complaint, besides being dangerous in itself, has many disagreeable concomitants —such as an unpleasant breath, a sallow skin, contaminating blood and bile, hemorrhoids, headache, loss of memory and general debility.

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters remove all these evils by removing their immediate cause in the digestive organs, and regulating the action of the intestines. The combination of properties in this celebrated preparation is one of its chief merits. It is not merely a stimulant or a tonic or an antibilious agent, or a nervine, or a blood depurent or a cathartic, but all these curative elements judiciously blended in one powerful restorative. It lends activity and vigor to the inert and enervated stomach, relieves the alimentary canal of its obstructions, and gives tone to the membrane which lines it, gently stimulates the liver, braces the nerves, and cheers the animal spirits. No other remedy possesses such a variety of hygienic virtues. It is to those characteristics that it owes its prestige as a household medicine. Experience has proved that it is as harmless as it is efficacious, and hence it is as popular with the weaker sex as with the stronger.

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are sold in bottles only, and the trade-mark blown in the glass and engraved on the label, is the test of genuineness. Beware of counterfeits

THE UNDERSIGNED HAVING BEEN APPOINTED by the Incorporators of the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad Company to open books and receive subscriptions to the capital stock of said company, does hereby declare such books now open for subscription at his office in this city.

This is done now, because it was believed that the citizens of Oregon, and especially of Portland, and those along the line of the proposed road would desire to take sufficient stock, at least to be an endorsement of the enterprise, and enable them to exert an influence in its management.

A certain proportion of the Directors are required to be residents of the State, who must first become stockholders before Directors. While the invitation to subscribe thereto is cordial, I will visit Eastern Oregon and Idaho during the month of July to give the citizens there an opportunity of engaging with us in the good cause.

A Reminiscence of Forty Six

New York and Philadelphia papers publish a long speech delivered at the last [illegible] city on the 12th inst by Hon Wm D Kelley before a large meeting of bankers, merchants and capitalists upon the Northern Pacific railroad, and the importance of the development of our northwest Territory Some early history is given by Mr Kelley in [illegible] which is well worth preserving In his speech on the occasion referred to he said that during the summer of 1845 twenty six years ago, Asa Whitney, of New York who had long resided in China and had studied intently the future routes of commerce visited him in Philadelphia in order to bring to his attention the project of a railroad from the great lakes to some point on the Columbia river or Puget Sound We quote Mr Kelley s words

The grandeur of the subject inspired me, and [illegible] enthusiasm for his great project induced Mr Whitney despite the disparity in our years to [illegible] me with frequent conferences and to bring [illegible] information relating to [illegible] be obtained Early in the year 1846 [illegible] satisfied, by the growth of sentiment in its [illegible] undertaking to secure him an opportunity to present his project to a public meeting of [illegible] of Philadelphia To induce a sufficient number of citizens to act as officers of the meeting was the work of time I found but few who took an interest in the subject or believed in the feasibility of the project. Some said that a road so far north [illegible] be available for as many months in the year as the Pennsylvania canals were that it would be buried in snow more than half year Others cried, "What madness to talk of a railroad more than 2,000 miles through that wilderness, when it was im[illegible] to build one over the Alleghanies"

By means of earnest effort an interest was awakened in the subject, and in 1846 the first meeting in behalf of a Northern Pacific Railroad was held in Philadelphia Speeches were delivered by Mr Whitney, Kelley [illegible] others, and resolutions were passed [illegible] the enterprise to the attention of Congress and of the Pennsylvania Legislature But the [illegible] of the project was still laughed at for many years, and [illegible] a century elapsed before the undertaking was laid hold of in earnest. Thus some men see the distant tops of great [illegible] and achievements long before others of common stature obtain a glimpse of them. There is no argument now in favor of the Northern Pacific railroad which was not anticipated by Mr Whitney and presented by him in his speech and resolutions in the Philadelphia meeting 25 years ago. Before the discovery of gold in California, [illegible] before [illegible] was ours, while yet San Francisco [illegible] existence, Mr Whitney was at work [illegible] this idea, and trying to raise a company [illegible] in existence

Mr Kelley does not talk about the project [illegible] enthusiastically now than he did then, though his speech delivered a few days ago [illegible] of magnificent visions, one of which [illegible] at metropolis of the Pacific will [illegible] to come be on the Bay of San [illegible] on Puget Sound. This is a problem to be referred to the future for solution and [illegible] next century there may be [illegible] recall what Mr Kelley now [illegible] about this particular matter with as [illegible] as he himself has recalled Mr W[illegible] declarations and efforts of years ago

Sinon and the Wooden Horse

The [illegible] the other day in arguing for the [illegible] which its party has adopted [illegible] the very genius of the Democratic party was opposed to any forced and revolutionary measures to procure a change in an actual state of facts or an organic law [illegible] neighbor, we fear, is forgetting itself The last national platform adopted by its party declared the existing state of facts, which had been brought about by the Republican party, "unconstitutional revolutionary and void," and Gen Blair in his Broadhead letter declared that the President should "compel the army to undo reconstruction and "disperse the carpet-bag governments" For this declaration [illegible] was nominated by the Democratic party Under this state of facts it looks a little [illegible] to find the Herald saying that [illegible] of the Democratic party [illegible] opposed to any forced and revolutionary [illegible], etc That paper would [illegible] its statement It should make it read thus "The very genius of the [illegible] opposed to any but forced and revolutionary measures." For it has persistently declared for such measures from the beginning [illegible] reconstruction till now In 1868 [illegible] to procure a change in an actual state of facts by "forced measures," the people did not see fit to give it a chance Now, it seeks by a stratagem to get inside of a citadel which it cannot carry by storm.

Victoria papers are in ecstacies over the discovery in the office of the Colonial Secretary at that place of a map purporting to have been published at Washington in 1848, by order of the United States Senate, in which the boundary between the United States and British America is drawn by a shaded or colored line through Rosario Channel, thus giving [illegible] British not only San Juan island, but [illegible] and other islands to which they do [illegible] lay claim Our British Columbian neighbors assert that this map concludes the case against the United States It purports to have been drawn by Charles Preuss, under order of the Senate, from the surveys of [illegible] Charles Fremont and other authorities [illegible] it is perfectly easy to demonstrate that the channel said to be indicated on this map is not the channel as understood by the negotiators of the treaty of 1846, nor by the Senate of the United States when the treaty was ratified If the map found at Victoria be a genuine one the circumstances of its publication can easily be explained of official authority

Democratic papers have added to their mean abuse of the President respecting his short excursion trips, a new howl of denunciation about the appointment of Gen Thomas Francis Meagher s son and a son of Brigham Young to cadetships at West Point They charge the President with refusing the former application and granting the latter, and with a great outcry over the alleged rejection of a gallant soldier s son they denounce the appointment of Cadet Young as a national recognition of polygamy. All this is false and the Democrats know it, but still continue their howls. The President did not refuse to [illegible] Gen Meagher's son who is living in [illegible] but told the applicant that he would [illegible] ing a cadetship at his disposal, as does every member of Congress, gave it to young Meagher, thus cancelling the application made to the President. Brigham Young s son was not appointed by the President, but by Mr Hooper, the delegate from Utah, the President knowing nothing of it until he saw the announcement of the appointment in the newspapers. If the Oregon Herald, a paper which has published a number of erroneous statements about this matter will now publish the substance of the above, its readers will be enabled to know the facts

The San Francisco Bulletin says that a large grading and bridge building force is now being concentrated at Tehama 127 miles above Sacramento—the design being to build the California and Oregon railroad rapidly toward the Oregon line It is thought probable that Shasta will be reached this year A magnificent bridge will be built over the Sacramento river at Tehama The stage travel from California northward, as well as from Oregon southward will be greatly shortened this year Soon it will be a slight undertaking to pass through overland

The increase of the debt of the city and county of New York, under Democratic management, during the past twenty-eight months has been $52 513 566 18 "It cannot be complained" says the Tribune "that this is not sufficiently rapid" This increase is at the rate of nearly $2,000 000 per month which is pretty good for one Democratic corporation At this rate if the Democratic party were in power at Washington what would be the increase of the national debt?

Washington Territory newspapers are urging that general preparation be made for holding a Territorial Fair this fall It is said that a meeting will soon be held at Olympia to consult as to plan and definite arrangements No agricultural and industrial exhibition of a general nature has ever been held in the Territory, and many think it high time to give the enterprise a start

More Acceptance

The Memphis Appeal is one of the journals that most conspicuously accept the situation Hear it

[From the Memphis Appeal June 3]

Since it is evident that the Democrats will acquiesce in a mutilation of the Constitution and make no effort to rid it of the hideous excrescences fixed by fraud and usurpation, the Democratic guns are spiked There is nothing left to fight for save the spoils of office This 'new departure' by the Democrats will induce the Radicals to make a retrograde movement, and at the next session of Congress they will grant universal amnesty and make the same bid for Democrats which the Democrats, have made for Republicans Already the Republicans are adjusting their platform, so as to secure a reduction of the tariff discontinuance of direct taxation, reform in the civil service economy in the working of the governmental machine, and a sweeping correction of these numerous abuses that have grown and flourished from reeking battle fields and prostituted law The Democrats can promise no more and the contest will be simply a scramble between the ins and the outs—a war as ridiculous and contemptible as that which raged in the empire of Lilliput between the Big endians and the Little endians as to whether eggs should be broke on the large end or the small end Republicans are guilty of misrule, usurpations and corruptions, and when the Democrats acquiesce in these outrages, there is just about as much difference between the two parties as there is between the thief and the receiver of stolen goods Some wag has prepared a platform for the National Democratic Convention, from which we make a few extracts

Resolved, That the arrest of C L Vallandigham, the battering in of his doors, the branding him as a traitor and escorting him "out of his country," was right, proper patriotic and in accordance with the bayonet power of the Constitution.

Resolved, That all the Republican party has done, and all it may do, has been and will be right

Resolved, That whereas, there is no difference between Democracy and Republicanism one party or the other should disband at once

Resolved, That the Democratic party disband and its members join in a carpet-bag crusade against the long outraged and submissive people of the South.

Resolved, That the battle cry of the Democratic party in the next canvas shall be "Put me in my little bed"

The words that are now put in the mouths of Democrats are nothing but stupendous lies The party is assuming a position which is false in theory, wicked and ruinous in practice, unworthy of honest men, slavish in spirit, a stab at the principles of liberty, and at war with traditions of Democracy

Growth of the American Episcopal Church

[From the Boston Traveller]

The growth of this great communion in the United States within the past ten years has been remarkable Nearly fifty bishops will meet this year at the great Triennial Convention, to be held in Baltimore in October A few years ago less than one half of this number were present on similar occasions The great States have had to be divided—New York into five dioceses Pennsylvania, Maryland Virginia, into two and three each The growth of the Church in the Western States and new territories, and on the Pacific coast almost exceeds that of the East On the line of the great Pacific railroads, hardly a hamlet or way station of any importance can be found without its Episcopal church The zeal and energy of the Western missionary bishops among whom the most prominent is Bishop Randall formerly of this city, are overcoming all obstacles Dotted all over these new regions are neat little churches, with their Sunday schools all erected and established within the past five years.

In the first missionary tour of Bishop Randall in Colorado, he came one Sunday morning to a mining village that hardly knew by any religious service when it was Sunday That morning had witnessed the murder of a man in a drunken or gambling quarrel One year from that day a regular parish church was in full operation with a settled minister, and a fine Sunday school, in which all the children of the village were gathered every Sunday for religious instruction Similar instances have occurred in other places in those remote regions

WON'T SWALLOW THE NEW DEPARTURE —The New Orleans Times has this to say of the new Democratic shift

Vallandigham s agency in the Democratic army reminds us of the judgment of an Irish private in one of the Confederate armies on the merits of one of the gallant chiefs thereof to whom two young officers agreed to refer their dispute as to the merits of said General Pat was then suffering from a severe wound received in a desperate charge ordered by the General who was the subject of the dispute What is me opinion of the General? Well, I m only a private and I ve no right to judge of his qualifications as a General but it's me own opinion that he would make the best Sexton in the Christian world We fear that Vallandigham has constituted himself the sexton of the National Democracy He certainly did a big job in that line in the last National Convention into which though not a member, he managed to wriggle himself, and immediately placed himself at the head of the funeral procession which conducted Horatio Seymour and the party to an easy grave. After this achievement, Val might have retired with sufficient eclat to serve him the remainder of his life Indeed, it was understood at the time that this was his last appearance. But, like the rich old soapboiler and tallow chandler who on retiring from [illegible]

Success of our Finances

[From the San Francisco Commercial Herald]

The bitterest opponent of the Administration must concede that its financial policy has established the credit of our Government, and raised it to a rank equal with that of any other nation on the globe. Strong efforts have been made by the opposition, and even by some who assume to be friendly toward the Administration, to break down this policy, on the ground that it would be better for the country to let the debt rest for a time and reduce taxation to the point of simply paying the interest Let us examine the subject coolly, and see whether this objection is well taken The reduction in our public debt since March 1st, 1869, amounts to $230 000 000, with a corresponding reduction of $13 800,000 on interest account, and the total decrease since July, 1865, aggregates $4?7 000 000 with a reduced interest payment of $27 430 000 a year We have therefore not only got rid of an immense amount of the principal but have diminished the burden of annual interest payments by the sum of about twenty seven and one half millions In the meanwhile the growth and prosperity of the country have not only been undisturbed, but been largely progressive, more so than at any other period in our history By reason of the lessened requirements for revenues to meet accruing interest on the national debt the Government has been placed in a position to reduce taxation to the extent of nearly one hundred and fifty millions a year which it could not have done had the debt been "allowed to rest for awhile Another strong argument is, that the policy pursued has had the effect of demonstrating the wonderful financial strength of this country, its recuperative ability, and strict integrity, and also of establishing its credit to such an extent as will probably enable the Government to fund its indebtedness at liberally decreased rates of interest and place it in more manageable condition, with great financial benefit to the nation

It should be borne in mind that the largest portion of our bonds are held abroad, and that the American people have to pay to European bondholders the large sum of $34 000 000 per annum, which must be met in gold or domestic produce and that the latter represents its value in gold, which would otherwise flow into instead of out of, the country It seems to us that these are such plainly demonstrable propositions that we are compelled to wonder at the persistent opposition exhibited toward the Treasury Department

Benefits of the most substantial character have been conferred upon the nation at large but there are some who would grumble at anything simply to exhibit either their own shrewdness in argument, or because of party hostility to the Administration In the former case they overrate their own abilities and in the latter they bite a file" During the current month the Treasury sales of gold will amount to $7,000,000, and its purchase of bonds to $4,000,000

On the 1st of June the cash balances in the Treasury were $98 605,963, of which $9 000 000 were in currency, and nearly $90,000 000 in gold, but depositors hold certificates against this amount to the extent of $17,000 000, and the interest due on the 1st of June was $38 672,431, leaving short of $35,000,000 in the Treasury—a sum by no means too large to protect the Government and to prevent financial speculation and convulsion The country is certainly better able to extinguish its obligations now than at the close of the war especially after so large a portion of the principal and its attendant interest have been got rid of Every section of the Union is eminently productive and prosperous The work of destruction, desolation, and mutual impoverishment has ceased the business of recuperation production and enriching industry is in full operation Our population has received large and valuable accession, and the burden of taxation falls on several millions more people, at greatly decreased rates There is no reason why we should not continue to divest ourselves of a monstrous encumbrance and rid the nation of the only remaining curse caused by a fratricidal war. There are innumerable reasons why we should not permit the debt to repose for a time checking progress and sending the gold of the country to enrich European holders of our bonds

Insect Traps

Now that horticulture has come to be largely a fight with insect depredators, every method of getting the best of the foe is eagerly scanned Some horticulturists are beginning to find out that the easiest way to fight worms and insects is to trap the parent millers, moths or bugs, as is easily done by suspending in trees and in the garden wide-mouthed bottles or jars, half filled with thin molasses or very sweet water A writer in the New York Observer says

I have tested the efficacy of this insect trap and have found it all that can be desired for trapping butterflies moths, millers and beetles of every species of insects that infest fruit trees and vines, vegetables and flowers The worms on grapevines, the worms on tobacco, on tomatoes, and on Irish potatoes, all spring from eggs deposited by butterflies which can readily be trapped in this way We trapped last season scores of many species of depredators in our city lot in Brooklyn. Several gentlemen who reside in the valley of the Hudson river have trapped more than a bushel each, consisting of almost an endless variety of moth millers, beetles, bugs and flies Every fruit tree, every evergreen and deciduous tree, every berry bush and fruit bearing vine, and every vegetable cultivated in the garden is attacked by a species of noxious insects which flourish only where their appropriate species of trees or fruit is cultivated, and strange to say, every one of those foes spring from parent insects in the form of butterflies moth millers, beetles or bugs every species of which will hazard life for the sake of getting a taste of the contents of the bottle Like our eligible young ladies who are warned of the troubles incident to connubial life they want to taste and try for themselves Foreign papers state that it was estimated that more than thirty millions of insects were trapped in bottles containing very sweet water, in a certain section of country in France last year As every moth or butterfly produces a very numerous progeny, it will be seen at once that it is in this form the insect ravagers can be most successfully fought

The Des Moines (Iowa) Register says "The question of the period that old Democrats are addressing each other with in this part of the country is not the time honored Do you keep your health?' but 'Have you taken the New Departure' The reply is usually in the affirmative thus 'Yes thank you, with a sigh'"

A BOY'S MURDER.

[From the New York Tribune.]

A lad, little over twenty, is now in a Chicago jail, charged with a murder unmatched for deliberation in all the annals of crime. The world has been afflicted enough with murder to make a departure from the ordinary circumstances a matter of fruitful study to those who hope to make life-taking less frequent, or life-keeping more certain. Aside from the apparently inevitable proportion of murders to which large communities are subject, are added crimes like the taking off of Burdell, Rogers, Nathan and Putnam, which for a time unsettle society and throw the very fabric of public safety into disrepute. The case in point proves that the utmost precautions of cunning can be swept away when justice sets itself determinedly on the track of crime.

The tide of immigration cast upon our shores, in the fall of 1869, the two youths whose fortunes are the subject of the Chicago story. They met in Baltimore; one a gay-tempered, thoughtless lad, fresh from Dublin, bent on bettering a modest fortune,—the other a brooding, dark-browed German from an obscure Brunswick hamlet, striving for a way to gain his daily bread. They became fast friends. Unsuccessful in Baltimore, they struck out for Chicago. On the 19th of December, when fortune after three weeks' search had apparently opened a way for the lucrative investment of his capital, the elder of the two lads, the Irishman, disappeared. Little attention had been given the young men in the house where they lodged, and the German found it easy not only to frame an excuse for his companion's absence, but to change names with him. He announced himself as M. W. Gumbleton, and his missing friend as Alfred Zeigenmeyer. Getting possession of the real Gumbleton's papers and effects, he made himself familiar with his affairs and learned to imitate his handwriting. When the proper time came, he wrote to the bankers in this city with whom his friend's money was on deposit, and, pretending urgent need, requested that the balance to his credit be sent on at once. The bankers suspecting nothing wrong, and with several letters from Gumbleton in their possession, accepted the draft and immediately forwarded the amount to Gumbleton's credit, $9,000 and something over.

The last day of the year, little more than five weeks from the arrival of the two lads in Chicago, a body was found in the lake, shockingly mutilated. Papers in the pockets proved it to be the corpse of the missing young Irishman. That night the murderer took train and quitted C[illegible] [illegible] by a clever series [illegible] himself identified at [illegible] and drawing the money sent from New York. He [illegible] for Europe. Meantime the [illegible] slowly to unravel itself through a series of wonderful chances. Even at the [illegible] of the murdered man detection stood [illegible] the merest trifle and only through [illegible] accident was it discovered that there had been foul play between the room-mates. Upon slender threads, compared to which the assassins of Nathan and Rogers left a highway of revealing circumstances, the detectives set to work, and within a few weeks officers were in Germany on the track of the murderer. After infinite diplomatic evasions and delays the authorities at Berlin delivered him [illegible] to our Minister, who in turn gave him [illegible] the officers of the law. Confronted [illegible] justice the young fellow made little demonstration. He strenuously denies the murder, but admits that he falsely appropriated his murdered friend's fortune.

Sheridan Interviewed.

WHAT HE IS ALLEGED TO HAVE TOLD A GERMAN NEWSPAPER REPORTER.

The following is a translation of an alleged interview between Lieutenant General P. H. Sheridan, of the United States Army, and a reporter of the Illinois Staats Zeitung:

Reporter—Are you aware, General, that a great deal has been written lately about what you are reported to have said about Emperor William, the Crown Prince, and the German soldiers, and which has given great offense to the Germans?

Gen. Sheridan—Certainly, I have heard about it; but I have not taken any notice of it, because it is impossible to reply to every paper, and, also, because I thought the falsehood of the report was so plain that nobody would believe it.

Reporter—Therein you were mistaken. Have you any objection to the publication of the interview in the Staats Zeitung?

Gen. Sheridan—None at all; on the contrary I would consider it a favor. I was received over there in so cordial and friendly a manner, that on that account alone, I would not have [illegible] the expressions imputed to me [illegible] been so disposed.

Reporter—What is your opinion of the great battles of the late war, as compared with those of our American war? You are reported to have said that the Germans excel only in skirmishing.

Gen. Sheridan—I have said nothing of the kind; never spoke of the matter at all. The number of combatants on either side in the American civil war did not, in most battles, [illegible] the enormous numbers of those engaged at Gravelotte, Sedan, etc. The victories of the Germans were not accidental, [illegible] better generalship, superior [illegible] and greater courage.

Reporter—You were with the King at [illegible]

Gen. Sheridan—Of course, that was the [illegible] the French ought to have [illegible] was unpardonable. It [illegible] outnumbered them by [illegible] the almost impregnable position of the French would have fully compensated them for a numerical disadvantage if they had [illegible] equal courage.

Reporter—Was the Crown Prince always in the rear of his army?

Gen. Sheridan (emphatically)—No, sir! The Crown Prince was always with his army, and in battles, whenever necessary, before the front. I myself have seen him in a shower of bullets.

Reporter—But you are reported to have [illegible] Prince Frederick Charles as a charlatan.

Gen. Sheridan—There, you can see yourself how absurd these charges are. I have never seen Prince Frederick Charles. I only reached the King's headquarters at Gravelotte and remained with him while Frederick Charles was left at Metz. At Sedan, where the armies were united, I saw the Crown Prince for the first time, consequently I have, and can have, no opinion about Frederick Charles, having never seen him.

Reporter—And the Emperor William, have you often seen him?

Gen. Sheridan—The Emperor William is a fine old gentleman, and a good General. He [illegible] personal courage and bravery in an [illegible] high degree. I myself have seen him under the heaviest fire at Gravelotte. Far from being under the influence of Bismarck, he has a firm, determined will of his own, which he knows how to carry out, even in opposition to Bismarck.

Reporter—Have you been long in Bismarck's company?

Gen. Sheridan—Certainly; Bismarck was always in the immediate vicinity of headquarters. He is the greatest man in Europe by a long way, and he is every inch a soldier, too.

Reporter—According to the newspapers, you made the alleged remarks to Secretary Boutwell.

Gen. Sheridan—I have never uttered a syllable about all this matter to Mr. Boutwell, and I do not believe that he is responsible for the propagation of this falsehood.

Reporter—How did you find the discipline and bearing of the German soldiers?

Gen. Sheridan—Their discipline is excellent. On the whole way from Metz to Paris, I did not notice a single act unbecoming a soldier.

Reporter—But certain American papers have greatly indulged in virtuous indignation at the burning of Bazeilles and other villages.

Gen. Sheridan—That was because they did not understand anything about it. The destruction of those villages was necessary and fully justified. They had to conquer house by house from the Franc-Tireurs.

Reporter—Did you leave the besieging army around Paris really because it was too monotonous?

Gen. Sheridan—No; I made a trip through Europe, because no offensive measures were to be expected. The plan at headquarters was to surround Paris and starve it into surrender, because it could be calculated with exactness when it would fall, and the Emperor wished to save human life. On the day following the capture of Paris I returned to headquarters. In all my travels I have everywhere spoken in praise of the German armies and leaders.

Mr. Bancroft at Berlin.

Frederick Kapp in his letter to the Nation thus speaks of our Minister at Berlin, whom [illegible] is so willing to part with:

The reported resignation of Mr. Bancroft, and his probable succession by a politician who has greater claims on the party, is the cause of much regret among those of his countrymen and those Germans who look at the importance and duties of a diplomatic representative with different eyes from the members of the victorious party at home. If Mr. Bancroft did not consider it his principal duty to introduce at court successful ready-made clothing or paper collar manufactories, or, as a kind of "commissionaire," to act for and attend to the business of any fool who thought himself especially entitled to the assistance of "his" minister, there are better men who appreciate the always hearty and able services he has rendered in drawing the two countries as near to each other as possible. Mr. Bancroft has always been a staunch friend of Germany, and her leading men will never forget that as much as was reconcilable with his duties as the minister of a neutral power, he stood by her in her hour of trial. They know very well that he was not concerned in the sale of arms with which his government surprised us last fall, and that the offense would never have been offered to the German people if Mr. Bancroft had been asked for his advice. His intimate relations with the most prominent men of letters and public character, his mastery of the German and other languages, and his extraordinary knowledge of German history and politics, have enabled him to do more for the mutual understanding of the two nations, and for their mutual appreciation, than any of his predecessors in office. Since 1797, when John Quincy Adams was appointed as the first minister to Berlin, up to date, only three American diplomats have been here who have endeared themselves to this country. They are Adams, Wheaton and Bancroft—three men who will always stand in the foreground of the political and literary history of their own country. What we want here, and what I advise you to send here, if not so much an unsophisticated western squire, who chews tobacco, holds handkerchiefs in utter contempt, and considers it a prejudice unworthy of a true Republican to express himself in any other language than his native English, as an educated gentleman and scholar who knows a little more of European history and politics than he can learn from Abbott's so-called histories, or from Muhlbach's novels—in short, a man who nobly represents American science and Republicanism, and by his personal character and intercourse with others makes the most efficient propaganda for his country—a gentleman, for instance, like George W. Curtis. The time, however, appears to me to be near at hand when Tammany Hall will appoint the Hon. John Morrissey or Ben Wood, if not the great James Fisk, Jr., himself. I apprehend, however, the Berlin climate will not agree with these worthies.

THE UNK WEED REMEDY OR OREGON RHEUMATIC CURE!

HISTORY.

THIS REMEDY IS COMPOSED OF THE ACTIVE principle of the Unk Weed, Eng.—Thaspium Cordatum Origanus, Lat.—Indigenous to Oregon. Grows most abundantly and perfectly in Washington county.

It is the most sure and speedy cure for RHEUMATISM, RHEUMATIC GOUT AND RHEUMATIC PAINS, of all kinds that was ever introduced in the Materia Medica.

Read the following certificates of the above fact from several of the most distinguished citizens of Oregon.

Certificate from A. R. Shipley, Esq., special contributor to the Willamette Farmer and Secretary of the Oregon Horticultural Society.

OSWEGO, Or., March 28, 1871.

DR. A. M. LORYEA—Some four weeks ago I was entirely prostrated with Rheumatism; in fact I was almost helpless. I sent to you for one 10 ounce bottle of the "Unk Weed Remedy," by the use of which I experienced almost immediate relief; and by the time the bottle was gone the Rheumatism was gone. From my own experience, and from what I have heard others say who have used the Unk Weed, I believe it to be a certain cure for Rheumatism. Yours, respectfully, A. R. SHIPLEY.

Certificate from the Hon. A. J. Dufur, ex-President of the Oregon State Agricultural Society, and author of "Statistics of Oregon:"

EAST PORTLAND, April 1, 1871.

DR. A. M. LORYEA & CO.—I was afflicted with a severe attack of Chronic Rheumatism: was confined to my bed most of the time from January to July, when I used the Unk Weed, and it cured me up. A. J. DUFUR.

Certificate from Hon. Gideon Tibbetts, a member of the City Council of East Portland:

EAST PORTLAND, April 7, 1871.

DR. A. M. LORYEA & CO.—Sirs: This is to inform you that I have used your "Unk Weed Remedy" for Neuralgia and Rheumatic pains, and found relief from the use of only one bottle, and can recommend it to those in need of such a remedy. Yours, GIDEON TIBBETTS.

Certificate from Mr. James Bybee, the celebrated stock grower and "King of the Oregon Turf:"

SAUVIE'S ISLAND, January 14, 1871.

TO DR. A. M. LORYEA & CO.—This is to acknowledge the efficacy of your "Unk Weed Remedy, or Oregon Rheumatic Cure." I was afflicted for months with a very serious attack of Inflammatory Rheumatism, and tried nearly all the so-called Rheumatic remedies without any relief or avail. I then tried your Remedy, and it has resulted in the most happy effects—a perfect cure.
Truly yours, JAMES BYBEE.

Certificate from Hon. E. L. Quimby, ex-County Commissioner of Multnomah county, Oregon:

EAST PORTLAND, April 1, 1871.

DR. A. M. LORYEA & CO.—I have used the "Unk Weed Remedy," and am satisfied it is a valuable medicine. It regulates and invigorates the system. This is my experience with the remedy. Truly yours, E. L. QUIMBY.

Certificate from Hon. N. H. Lane, Pilot Commissioner of Oregon, and a member of the City Council of East Portland:

EAST PORTLAND, April 19, 1871.

DR. A. M. LORYEA & CO.—I have been afflicted for several years with "weakness in the back," and wandering Rheumatic pains, accompanied by severe constipation. By the use of one bottle of your Unk Weed Remedy, or Oregon Rheumatic Cure, I have been entirely relieved, and I cheerfully recommend it as a most valuable and efficient remedy. NAT. H. LANE.

Certificate from the well-known merchant, O. W. Weaver, Esq.

THE DALLES, May 23, 1871.

DR. A. M. LORYEA & CO.—I have used the "Unk Weed Remedy" and can cheerfully recommend it to persons afflicted with Inflammatory Rheumatism. It cured me of that disease. My hands, wrists, ankles, indeed, all my joints were swollen and very painful. O. W. WEAVER.

Certificate from the celebrated musician, Prof. Otto Vieuxtemps:

OREGON MUSICAL INSTITUTE, PORTLAND, May 27, 1871.

DR. A. M. LORYEA & CO.—I was attacked with severe Inflammatory Rheumatism, suffering great pain, and was so prostrated that I was unable to attend to my business. I used one bottle of your Unk Weed Remedy, or Oregon Rheumatic Cure, and was entirely cured by it alone. OTTO VIEUXTEMPS.

Put up in 10 ounce bottles, at $1 50 per bottle.
